TAKE THE USA PATRIOT PLEDGE

The Nuclear Challenge

Our nation is too dependent on foreign oil, and our nuclear weapons program is old and outdated. President Bush has been pushing to revive the civilian nuclear power industry, and to develop a new generation of "bunker-buster" nuclear weapons. Liberals have opposed these initiatives, using tired old excuses about nuclear waste disposal and nuclear non-proliferation treaties.

Fighting Terrorism at Home

President Bush, with Attorney General John Ashcroft, has met the threat of terrorism at home with the USA PATRIOT Act. The Act has encountered more liberal opposition than anything else the President has done, even though patriotic, law-abiding citizens have nothing to fear from it. Liberals simply refuse to believe that Americans are prepared to make meaningful sacrifices to support the war on terrorism.

America is facing many serious challenges both at home and abroad. Meeting these challenges will require Americans to make some new sacrifices over the coming four years. President George W. Bush is ready to lead us through these difficult times, but liberals don't believe our citizens are ready to face hard choices. The political gridlock that results prevents the full realization of the goals of the Bush presidency.

The USA Patriot Pledge will show politicians in Washington—both conservative and liberal—that there are millions of patriotic Americans who stand ready to do their part. By taking a few minutes of your time to make the Pledge, you will be providing invaluable assistance to your country and President in a time of need.

THE USA PATRIOT PLEDGE

- I volunteer to have a permanent nuclear waste storage facility in my community.
- I volunteer to lobby local, state, and federal officials for a permanent nuclear waste storage facility in my community.
- I would personally feel more secure with America launching a new round of nuclear weapons development, even if this meant breaking current treaty obligations concerning nuclear weapons.

Fighting Terrorism Abroad

President Bush has met the threat of international terrorism with pre-emptive war. As a result, the US military is stretched very thin in Iraq and Afghanistan, and we lack the troops necessary to take on terrorists in many other countries. Yet liberals, and even some conservatives, are scared to even discuss resuming the military draft.

- I volunteer to send my children to fight for America in Iraq, Afghanistan, Iran, Syria, North Korea, or anywhere else President George W. Bush deems necessary.
